

IMITATING JESUS CHRIST

» I often ask myself: What would Jesus do?

In all aspects of life, and especially in their witness, Christians are called to follow the example and teachings of Jesus Christ, sharing his love, giving glory and honour to God the Father in the power of the Holy Spirit.

JESUS IS MY EXAMPLE – DOES THIS OVERWHELM ME?

ACTING IN GOD'S LOVE

» God? Is love!

Christians believe that God is the source of all love and, accordingly, in their witness they are called to live lives of love and to love their neighbour as themselves.

CHRISTIAN VIRTUES

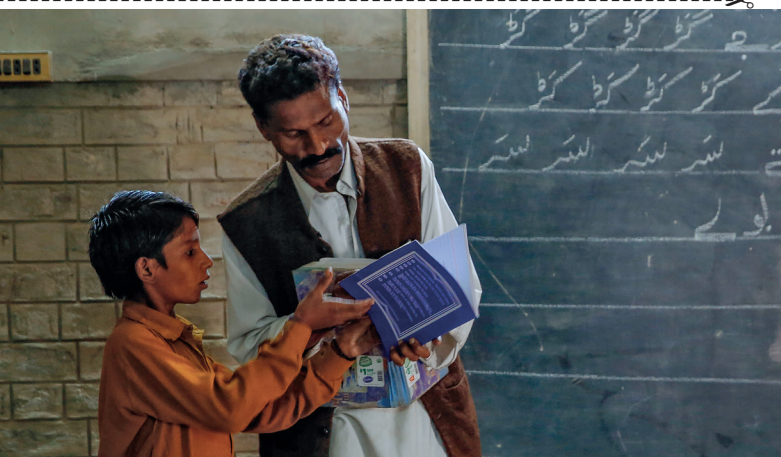

» As a Christian, I try to put others before myself.

Christians are called to conduct themselves with integrity, charity, compassion and humility, and to overcome all arrogance, condescension and disparagement.

ACTS OF SERVICE AND JUSTICE

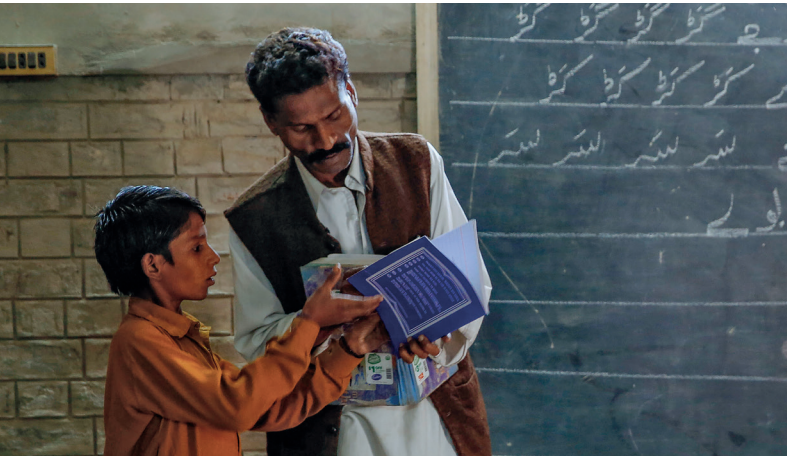

To testify to my faith, I engage in action.

Christians are called to act justly and to love compassionately. They are further called to serve others and in so doing to recognize Christ in the least of their sisters and brothers. Acts of service, such as providing education, health care, relief services and acts of justice and advocacy are an integral part of witnessing to the gospel. The exploitation of situations of poverty and need has no place in Christian outreach.

REJECTION OF VIOLENCE

» Ultimately, love is stronger than violence.

Christians are called to reject all forms of violence, even psychological or social, including the abuse of power in their witness. They also reject violence, unjust discrimination or repression by any religious or secular authority, including the violation or destruction of places of worship, sacred symbols or texts.

FREEDOM OF RELIGION AND BELIEF

» Men and women can freely decide what they believe!

Religious freedom includes the right to publicly profess, practice, propagate and change one's religion. This freedom springs directly from the dignity of the human person, which has as its source the creation of every human being in the image and likeness of God. Where any religion is used as a tool for political ends, or where religious persecution occurs, Christians are called as prophetic witness to denounce such actions.

DO I APPRECIATE THE FREEDOM IN WHICH I CAN LIVE MY FAITH?

MUTUAL RESPECT AND SOLIDARITY

» Respect and solidarity – this applies to everyone.

Christians are called to commit themselves to work with all people in mutual respect, together promoting justice, peace and the common good. Interreligious cooperation is an essential dimension of such commitment.

RESPECT FOR ALL PEOPLE

»» Without the questions that Jesus poses to me, my life would be boring.

Christians recognize that the gospel both challenges and enriches cultures. Even when the gospel challenges certain aspects of cultures, Christians are called to respect all people. Christians are also called to discern elements in their own cultures that are challenged by the gospel.

DO I HEAR THE QUESTIONS THAT THE GOSPEL RAISES?

RENOUNCING FALSE WITNESS

»» When I meet others, I'll listen first.

Christians are to speak sincerely and respectfully; they are to listen in order to learn about and understand others' beliefs and practices, and are encouraged to acknowledge and appreciate what is true and good in these. Any comment or critical approach should be made in a spirit of mutual respect, making sure not to bear false witness concerning other religions.

ENSURING PERSONAL DISCERNMENT

»» To decide on faith issues – that takes time.

Christians are to acknowledge that changing one's religion is a decisive step. It must be accompanied by a sufficient time period in order to ensure adequate reflection and preparation, in a process which guarantees full personal freedom.

BUILDING INTERRELIGIOUS RELATIONSHIPS

»» Other religions? These are my partners.

Christians should continue to build relationships marked by respect and trust with people of different religions, so as mutually to facilitate deeper understanding, reconciliation and cooperation for the common good.
